

Course Readings for teaching

Making library resources available to your students in Moodle

The Library's Course Readings service allows you to make book chapters and journal articles available to your students via Moodle. It also provides centralised management for links to the Library's electronic database content to ensure durability of access.

How it works

Collate your resources. Submit your request to web form/email below. We will source, digitise and place the material via Course Readings into your Moodle course and ensure copyright compliance.

For material the Library subscribes to we recommend you also submit to ensure any publisher/URL/platform changes can be managed to maintain reliable access for your students to eJournals, articles and eBooks.
